ABOUT ME

Fullstack developer with roots in frontend. My design background goes back to 2007, when I designed and coded hundreds of blogs using HTML, CSS and JavaScript — hands-on experience I've since broadened into modern fullstack development with React, Next.js and Node.js. I build accessible, responsive interfaces with an eye for detail and a strong sense of visual identity, and I plan, build and deploy web applications end to end.

For more examples of my work and design, take a look at my portfolio at Github — it says more about who I am as a developer than a CV can.
